The Local Seeker's Holiday Gift Guide 2011

Due to our holiday issue's early publication date this year, we think we have come up with a small-but-unique selection of gift suggestions you can actually consider, without having to rush around at the last second. Enjoy... and choose one of the following for the lucky guy or gal in your life, whether they've been naughty OR nice.

1/ Man of Grease DVD

Montreal filmmaker Ezra Soiferman is founder of Cinemaspace at The Segal at the Saidye, a lifelong hemp aficionado and onetime owner of an actual Smart car. But these achievements may well pale in comparison to his winning documentary The Man of Grease, detailing the life and career of Tony Koulakis, owner of legendary West End eatery Cosmos. The film is now available in a new, enhanced DVD stuffed with features that will keep you busy, inciting you to rush off for some artery-clogging eggs, bacon and home fries at the jammed culinary NDG hotspot still operated by the Koulakis family (even though Tony is retired, you may well still meet him there). Just $20 and well worth every dime, so beautifully heartwarming and humorous is this intimate portrait of the "broke-the-mold" Koulakis and his relationships with his family and customers.
