

Hey, Ez... what's a music photeo?!

The term music photeo was coined in 2011 by Montreal filmmaker and photographer Ezra Soiferman's friend, Halifax-born, Baltimore-based Jasmine Oore, when she saw a short music video he'd recently made comprised solely of photographs instead of film or video footage.

Ezra loved Jasmine's very clever name for this and each subsequent video he's made bringing his photos to life has had the music photeo moniker attached to it.

His music photeos to date have been (oldest to most recent):

"Do You Feel The World" (2011, featuring "Do You Feel The World" by Mike Evin)
<http://www.ezsez.com/2011/05/do-you-feel-world.html>

"Last Game at The Forum" (2016, featuring "We Go Home" by Adam Cohen), <http://tinyurl.com/gvcq59a>

“The Walls of Montreal” / “Les Murs de Montréal” (2016, featuring "Homecoming" by Josh Ritter). <https://youtu.be/4QLoqlFfEjE>

"Ez in Res" (2017, featuring "Free Medicine" by Lake of Stew)
<http://www.ezrasoiferman.com/ez-in-res/>

"The One to Dream" (2017, featuring "The One to Dream" by Kat Goldman)
<https://youtu.be/A68jfGEk1r4>

“Ecuadoria” (2019, featuring “Si Tu No Estas Que Hago” written and performed by Julio Herrera, featuring Diego Gonzales on percussion. This video has some of Ezra’s photos from his June 2019 trip to Ecuador.) <https://youtu.be/6ivFzo5g4B8>

“The Wildlife – The Walled Life” (2021, Sung by Ezra Soiferman and Ilana Block, with wildlife photos by Ilana Block and animal mural photos by Ezra Soiferman.)
https://youtu.be/TS33tonG_K0

“Purple Clouds” (2022, Featuring “Purple Clouds” by James Forest)
<https://youtu.be/ucxQM3rqPMQ>

“The Junk At My Cottage” (2022, featuring recycled art sculptor Dr. Michael Dworkind aka “Dworko”) <https://youtu.be/iCX520sWQ6Y>

“Stages of Psychosexual Development” (2022, featuring the song of the same name by singer-songwriter Ryan Stotland) <https://youtu.be/jSCAEqP2Z8w>

More of these to come!

Ez

Ezra Soiferman
<http://www.EzraSoiferman.com/>